HRC'S TRAINING PARTNERS

HRC Foundation Trainings through The Center for Affiliated Learning (the CAL)

The CAL is an award-winning, all-inclusive learning and training center available 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The eLearning courses available through the CAL are engaging and interactive self-paced learning courses that contain audio narration, interviews, video vignettes, custom graphics, and thought-provoking interactions. These courses are developed in collaboration with nationally recognized subject matter experts and offer CME/ CEU credit. See series descriptions on reverse side. Download registration instructions for The CAL here.

National LGBTQIA+ Health Education Center

The Education Center offers over 50 on-demand webinars in a variety of LGBTQ health topics, a number of online learning modules and a monthly live webinar series, all of which meet the HEI training requirements for on-going LGBTQ training. The webinars and learning modules offered by The Education Center are free and offer CME/CEU credit. Download registration instructions for the National LGBTQIA+ Health Education Center here.

Veterans Health Administration (VHA)

Several webinars offered by the VHA are eligible to count towards the on-going LGBTQ education training requirement in the HEI for VHA facilities and employees. Review the available webinars here.

EDUCATIONAL SERIES OFFERED BY THE HRC FOUNDATION THROUGH THE CENTER FOR AFFILIATED LEARNING (THE CAL)

AN INTRODUCTION TO YOUR LGBTQ PATIENTS

An Introduction to your LGBTQ Patients is a two course series that serves as an introduction to lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer and questioning (LGBTQ) identities and addresses diversity as a health issue, discrimination — specifically in healthcare, social issues, and strategies for delivering accessible and affirming healthcare.

EXPANDING LGBTQ CULTURAL COMPETENCY

Expanding LGBTQ Cultural Competency is a fourcourse series that serves as an introduction to LGBTQ healthcare, including strategies for delivering accessible and affirming healthcare. It covers common issues that clients may have and provides basic cultural competency skills for working with LGBTQ clients and colleagues.

WORKING WITH TRANS YOUTH

The Working with Trans Youth series consists of three offerings: two eLearning courses offered for CME credit through the CAL and a short documentary-style film. The eLearning courses cover differences between gender creative and transgender identities among children and adolescents as well as the unique health concerns among transgender youth, along with hormonal and surgical treatment options for transgender youth clients.

“This was one of the best online learning resources I have encountered. This training was well organized and provided information from basic to substantial.”

— Kelly Wesp, PhD Director of Quality and Evaluation, Equitas Health

“We really appreciated the ease of use and the quality of the information included. We live in a very rural state and we believe we are making a difference by connecting our employees with these resources.”

— Jonna Brenton, Women Veteran Program Manager, VA Montana Healthcare System

LGBTQ PATIENT-CENTERED CARE: AN EXECUTIVE BRIEFING

LGBTQ Patient-Centered Care: An Executive Briefing is a three course series that serves as an introduction to lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer and questioning (LGBTQ) identities and addresses diversity as a health issue, discrimination - specifically in healthcare, social issues, and strategies for delivering accessible and affirming healthcare. In addition, this series discusses policy and accreditation changes related to serving LGBTQ patients and identifies ways to assist healthcare facilities in creating inclusive environments for LGBTQ patients.

LGBTQ HEALTHCARE FOR CLINICIANS

LGBTQ Healthcare for Clinicians is a three-course series that discusses strategies for creating inclusive healthcare environments and delivering accessible care to LGBTQ clients. It covers barriers to healthcare and how society affects LGBTQ healthcare concerns. It also explores unique health concerns among lesbian, gay, and bisexual clients and provides guidance on how to strengthen clinician-client communication.

WORKING WITH TRANS ADULTS

This series consists of three courses. The first course will focus on trans female and trans male identities, as well as concerns and barriers to accessing healthcare. Course two will focus on medical care for trans women. Course three will focus on medical care for trans men. Although specifically designed for clinicians, all staff who interact with clients will benefit from this series.

EXPANDING LGBTQ YOUTH CULTURAL COMPETENCY SERIES

The Expanding LGBTQ Youth Cultural Competency Series is a three course series. Healthcare providers and educators play an integral role in assisting LGBTQ youth and their families. How they interact with youth through programs and patient visits can change lives and create positive health outcomes. This series will increase clinicians' knowledge and competence in working specifically with LGBTQ youth.
